About the city

Goa is a state in western India with coastlines stretching along the Arabian Sea. Its long history as a Portuguese colony prior to 1961 is evident in its preserved 17th-century churches and the area's tropical spice plantations. Goa is also known for its beaches, ranging from popular stretches at Baga and Palolem to those in laid-back fishing villages such as Agonda.

Climate

Goa has a tropical climate, with hot, humid weather for most of the year. In summer the temperatures can reach as high as 91F (33C) and there are monsoon rains from June to September. Goa has a short winter, lasting only from December to February, with temperatures averaging around 77F (25C).

Culture

The culture of Goa is an amalgamation of Indian and Portuguese culture. The long Portuguese rule has influenced the culture in more ways than one and many of the Portuguese traditions are reflected in the Goan culture even today. The crafts and arts of Goa also reflect Hindu, Muslim and Christian origins.

Culture

Goa Cuisine

Goan cuisine consists of regional foods popular in Goa, an Indian state located along India's west coast on the shore of the Arabian Sea. Rice, seafood, coconut, vegetables, meat, bread, pork and local spices are some of the main ingredients in Goan cuisine. Use of kokum and vinegar is another distinct feature. Goan food is considered incomplete without fish.

The cuisine of Goa originated from its Konkani roots, and was influenced by the 451 years of Portuguese rule and the Sultanate rule that preceded the Portuguese. Many Catholic dishes are either similar to or variants of their Portuguese counterparts in both naming or their use of ingredients.

Culture

Life Style & Customs

The culture of Goa is an amalgamation of Indian and Portuguese culture. The long Portuguese rule has influenced the culture in more ways than one and many of the Portuguese traditions are reflected in the Goan culture even today. The crafts and arts of Goa also reflect Hindu, Muslim and Christian origins.

Goan People

The people of Goa are known as 'Goans'. They are peaceful, friendly and fun loving people who love rest. The life style in Goa reflects a unique blend of East and West and the Goans usually comprise of a predominantly Hindu and a Christian population and a small Muslim community.

Culture

Communication and Languages

Portuguese was widely spoken until 1961, but after a tough fight by citizens, Konkani became the official language of Goa. Konkani is spoken by 66.11% of people in the state. Other languages too are used in Goa for communication, namely Marathi, Hindi, Urdu, English and Kannada.

Celebrations

National Holidays

There are various festivals for every religion in India and for giving due respect to each one of them, India is declared as a secular state. There are no discriminations based on religions and every religion is celebrated with the feeling of brotherhood, equal joy and enthusiasm. Shops and market places are filled with various varieties of festival goodies and the festival sale is a blessing for any and every Indian!!

In India, three days are designated as national holidays:

Taxis

Both taxis and auto rickshaws can be pre-booked, alternatively, you can flag down an auto rickshaw when needed. A scooty (local word for scooter) is a very popular option in Goa and the most preferred mode of transport, not just for visitors but for Goans themselves.

— Transportation

Ferry Crossing

At quite a few places around Goa, especially in the rural hinterland, you will have to cross a small river to get to your destination. Most such rivers now have a bridge across them, which has made the flow of traffic smooth all over Goa. However, where a bridge is yet to come up, you will be able to enjoy another mode of transport unique to Goa.

This is the ferry also known as ferryboat by the locals, which carries people and cars from one shore to the other, across the rivers and estuaries all around Goa. In some places, the ferry remains the only mode of transport to get to the mainland. Popular river crossings include: Old Goa to Divar Island, Divar to Narve, Querim to Tiracol, and Cavelossim to Assolna. There is a ferry from the capital city of Panaji across the Mandovi river to Betim, despite the presence of two excellent bridges across the Mandovi river. Travellers to Goa feel that the ferry ride is one of the most romantic mode of transport in Goa. This most enjoyable ride is well worth checking out.

General Food & Hygiene

General Food and Hygiene Instruction

One important concern that people have moving into a new country is how to maintain health of their family. Certain precautionary measures should be taken to insure that your family stays healthy. In preparing this section, conflicting procedures and recommendations were given. In all cases the most conservative procedure is suggested.

Drinking Water and Ice

All water must be boiled and filtered before drinking or using for oral hygiene. Filtering water before boiling removes sediments or particles, which can shelter microorganisms from heat. Bring the water to a boil for 15 minutes and then cool, filter and store in cool containers. This will effectively kill Hepatitis “A” virus and most bacteria. Cysts and bacteria are devitalized after a one-minute boiling roll.

Following boiling, cover the container with a lid and let the water cool. When the water has cooled pour the water into clean water bottles for storage. Do not keep the water uncovered after boiling as this can contaminate the water. Instruct your household helps to make ice from this source and not from the tap.

General Food & Hygiene

Meat and Fish

These should always be cooked thoroughly to prevent ingestion of tapeworms, trichinosis and other disease causing organisms. A pressure cooker is excellent for this use. Always be sure to purchase fish fresh. Most people do not eat fish in the monsoon season (June, July, August) since quality of fish cannot be guaranteed.

Salads, Fruits and Vegetables

All fruits and vegetables that cannot be peeled must be thoroughly washed and soaked in a solution of cold boiled water with a few drops of Chlorine bleach or Betadine or Potassium Permanganate solution for 20 minutes. These should be brushed gently with a vegetable brush or a soft cloth then rinsed in boiled water and air dry on drainer.

Some expatriates recommend the use of a disinfectant, available at any chemist -primarily marketed to sterilize baby bottles and pacifiers, to sterilize food products as well. For all green leafy vegetables the leaves should be separated and soaked in a Chlorine bleach or Potassium Permanganate solution for at least 20 minutes and rinsed thoroughly in potable water.

Whichever procedure you follow be sure that your cook or kitchen help is trained to follow these procedures. It's a good idea to surprise check these procedures occasionally.

— Recreation

It is no surprise that Goa is one of the most sought-after destinations not only in India but the world as well, simply because it offers the best of everything. Miles of golden sand coastline, expansive sea, a fun-filled party-scene and countless drinking and dining options, all of this make it one of the most preferred destinations for adults and kids. While you thought that a beach trip would be all about a relaxed, slow sea-gazing and food-centred experience, we bring you some of the most adrenaline-pumping and thrilling activities that could find a place on your bucket list of 'Things to Do' while travelling to Goa. It hardly matters whether you are a swimmer or a trekker, an out and out adventurous person or the more cautious one but open to trying out experiences, Goa will leave you spoilt for choices. So read on to know more:

Scuba Diving and Snorkelling

If the sublime experience of marine life and the enchanting world of underwater caught your fancy while watching 'Zindagi Na Milegi Dobara', scuba diving and snorkelling are the sports for you. Colourful corals, wrecks from the pages of history and the thrill of being in the abandon of the infinite sea, scuba diving is a once-in-a-lifetime experience. And here's the thing: You don't need to dish out a moolah for this sport in countries like Maldives or Thailand when Goa offers you stunning experiences of marine life while scuba diving with the best of instructors and safety equipment.

— Recreation

Parasailing

Who doesn't want to enjoy the breathtaking view of the blue Arabian Sea while flying high up in the sky, defying the limits as it were? Parasailing is one of the most popular adventure sports on offer in Goa. Tourists usually prefer winch boat parasailing where the taking off and landing of the parachute happens on the winch boat itself attached at the other end of the parachute. Parasailing is a hot favourite amongst families, kids and couples as it offers the perfect combination of thrill and enjoyment while being comparatively easier than the other water sports. The best time to enjoy parasailing is from October to May when the sea is calmer, and winds are perfect for gliding the parachute.

— Recreation

Windsurfing

Windsurfing combines the aspects of both sailing and surfing. The rider has to stand on the board and firmly grip the sail attached and then manoeuvre according to the wind and water pressure. It requires a good balancing act on the surfboard while cruising through the ocean waters. Dona Paula jetty, among others such as Candolim Beach, Calangute and Baga is considered to be the best place for windsurfing especially if you are a beginner. If you are more of the adventurous types, you could head out for windsurfing in the afternoon instead of the morning when the winds are stronger and offer a more challenging experience to the surfers.

Water Scooters

Water Scooters are a safe but thrilling option for people who want to experience water sports but are relatively inexperienced. This sport is a combination of speed and thrill that accompanies riding a bike on the smooth surface of the water. Water scooters are trendy in Goa and are readily available at most of the beaches.

White Water River Rafting and Boat Cruise at Mandovi River

Located at the borders of Mhadei Wildlife Sanctuary, Mandovi or Mhadei river is one of the most picturesque rivers of India. Goa Tourism Development Corporation has introduced whitewater river rafting here, which attracts tourists from India and abroad alike. Rolling waves in the river churning out white froth that carries your boat amongst the rapids, white water rafting is one of the most preferred water sports that excites a large number of travellers. You shall be provided with a small training session, safety equipment and life jackets that would be required for the 10-kilometre adventure trip.

Kayaking

Kayaking is a calming water activity that is not strenuous and too challenging. Paddle your way through the thickets, backwaters and rivulets in Goa, enjoying its scenic beauty and scenes from the daily Goan life. Kayak races, kayak festivals, picnics and moonlight kayaking are some of the options offered by various clubs in Goa. It is more popular in South Goa beaches and is best enjoyed in the season stretching from October to May when the sea is placid, and the currents are moderate.

Wakeboarding and Kneeboarding

Requiring less speed and balance than water skiing, wakeboarding is becoming more and more popular with water sports enthusiasts. It makes use of a single board rather than two; this sport is fun-filled and available on most of the beaches. Kneeboarding is another favoured counterpart that uses a board to rest the knee to ride through the waters. These activities are also considered as training stages for more advanced water sports.

Water Skiing

Water Skiing is one of the most adventurous and thrilling water sports that one could take part in while at Goa. Skiers put on a pair of skis, which are further tied to a speedboat. As the boat speed, one has to maintain balance in the process of being pulled by the racing boat. This sport can be a bit challenging for beginners and is not suitable for children below five years of age. However, a little practice can lead you to an adrenaline-pumping and an unforgettable experience!

DJ BOAT PARTY

Cruise Party in Goa will let you enjoy continuous music while you are sailing on the river, enjoying the soft and cozy winds, feeding your tummy with the tastiest snacks, and quenching your thirst with chilled beer or soft drinks. It is advised to make an advance booking for the cruise party. Advance booking will help you be free from the crowd that largely arrives during the holiday season. For a lasting and adventurous trip, advance booking is always recommended. In case, you require the addition of some special activities, you can ask our organizer to do so for you. That will be charged additional other than the Goa boat party cost. During the whole boat party, instructors are always available to guide you during the activities. It is always advisable to listen to their advice and follow them to avoid any negligence.

— Recreation

Bumper Ride

Bumper ride in Goa is a fun water sport which includes a large air-filled tube made of rubber called the bumper. You have to sit on the bumper which is attached to a speedboat & it will drag you in the open sea. The rider will experience the flight as the bumper moves up & down in the sea along with the waves.

Jet Skiing

Home to lush green forests, clean water beaches and few white sand beaches, Goa boasts to have natural beauty at its best. Watersports including parasailing, water scooters, banana boat ride, dinghy sailing, scuba diving or simple ride in a boat can be availed here. Jet ski in Goa with banana ride package allows you to experience two exciting activities. Jet skiing is one of the most thrilling and popular activities in Goa. Banana boat is an inflatable boat that is shaped just like a banana and connected to a speedboat, which pulls it along the water at high speeds.

— Shopping Market

Shopaholics always look for shopping places on their vacation before coming back to home. Every place offers a charm for the local markets where tourists shop with an open heart. Whenever you visit a new place, you want to buy some souvenirs to take back home as a memory of your trip. Goa is one of the top tourist destinations in India that is full of beaches, seafood, late night parties, and even places for shopping.

You can have an amazing shopping experience across Goa as its flea market and other local shops offer you everything at reasonable price. So, if you are planning to travel to Goa and wondering which place you should go for shopping, then read the below.

Anjuna Flea Market, Anjuna

Anjuna Flea Market is one of the popular and great places of shopping in Goa. Hosted every Wednesday at Anjuna Beach, this flea market is a paradise place for real shopaholics. You will find hundreds of stores selling jewelries, clothes, wooden crafts, footwear, handicrafts, hammocks, bed sheets, trinkets, and wall hangings. This market experiences great footfalls of Indians as well as foreigners. Show your bargaining skills at this shopping place and pick some great items as souvenirs.

— Shopping Market

Mapusa

Market,

Mapusa

If you want to experience the real flavors of traditional Goan shopping, go to Mapusa Market on Friday morning at Mapusa. You can buy here spices, pickles, fruits, vegetables, fresh fish, cashew nuts, port wine, and curry pastes. However, you can also look for textiles, clothing, jewelry and other items at a reasonable price. Test your bargaining skills at this wonderful place and don't forget to try the scrumptious food from the nearby eateries.

Mackie's Night Bazaar, Baga

A perfect place for every enthusiastic shopper, Mackie's Night Bazaar is organized every Saturday from afternoon till midnight on Baga Beach. It features over hundred shopping outlets selling souvenirs, handicrafts, clothes, jewelry and antiques, etc. There are many eateries as well as party places where you can have lots of fun while having great shopping experiences.

— Shopping Market

Night Market in Arpora, Arpora

Arpora market begins in the evening and lasts till late at night. The market is full of local tourists and foreigners buying souvenirs. You will find here a variety of food stalls, cloth sellers and knickknack vendors, selling a diverse range of minute items. The area that surrounds the market is full of clubs with adequate parking space. You can first go to these bars, have unlimited fun and then continue your shopping.

Baga Market, Baga Market

A Tibetan market on Baga Road is open from October to May where you will find interesting jewelry and accessories for both men and women. Apart from that, prayer flags, bells, showpieces, and even furniture are available in the market. There is one more popular market at Baga Beach which is held every Saturday night. There you will see numerous vendors selling jewelry, handicrafts, clothes, goodies and trinkets, etc. The availability of shacks and terrace cafes nearby makes this place more interesting to grab everyone's attention.

Calangute Market Square, Calangute

One of the best places for shopaholics in Goa is Calangute Market Square where you will get everything from summer clothes to jewelry. Here, you would love to shop for handicrafts, beachwear, leather products, seashells, carpets, trinkets, etc. The Calangute beach is lined with lots of shacks and stalls that attract every tourist for its souvenirs.

— Shopping Market

Ashwem Beach Market, Ashwem Beach

If you are seeking something unique from North Goa shopping but still want some similarities, then you should head to the Wednesday Flea Market on Ashwem Beach. There, you will get everything that is trending right now. From sexy dress to durable shoes and even bohemian handmade dresses are available in the market.

CocoRoots, Anjuna

You must visit this place if you are jewelry lover. It is a perfect place for unique jewelry shopping as this market has a vast collection of ethnic jewelry made up of coconuts, animals' bone and horn (that are made from dead animals). You can buy some items as souvenirs to make your friends and family happy by gifting such incredible things.

Pet Relocation

Moving to a new city, state, or country can be pretty exciting, but it can also be very stressful. We recognize our clients' need for the safe and worry-free transportation of their four legged family members.

During air travel pets are housed in a pressurized air conditioned compartment, just the same as people travel in, only it is quiet and dark and the animals can sleep.

In Domestic flights, your pet can travel in the cargo hold. The pilot should be informed in writing prior to the flight there is a live animal in the cargo hold and he adjusts the temperature in the hold for the same. Pets below 10 weeks of age are not allowed to travel by flight. The charge for your pet traveling on the aircraft depends on the weight of your pet and differs from airline to airline.

Housing

Types of Housing

Most Goan houses standing today were built between the 18th century and the early part of the 20th century. They display a mix of neo-Classic and neo-Gothic styles.

The traditional pre-Portuguese homes were inward-looking with small windows; this reflected the secluded role of women. The houses opened into courtyards, and rarely opened onto streets. The Catholic houses built or refurbished between the middle of the 18th and the 20th centuries were more outward-looking and ornamental, with balcões (covered porches) and verandas facing the street. The large balcões had built-in seating, open to the street, where men and women could sit together and ‘see and be seen’, chat with their neighbours, or just enjoy the evening breeze. These balcões are bordered by ornamental columns that sometimes continued along the steps and added to the stature of the house. This, together with the plinth, which usually indicated the status of the owners. The houses of rich landlords had high plinths with grand staircases leading to the front door or balcão.

Housing

Location plays a vital role in choosing the right place to live. Please consider the following carefully:

General Information

- Unfurnished apartment lack all basic household and kitchen appliances including air conditioners, modular kitchen, Geysers etc. These can be sometimes negotiated with landlord. There are very few Furnished apartment options and furniture is not always up to the expat quality.
- There are very few service apartments in Goa available for long term.
- A vacant property may not always be very pleasant at first sight since more landlord's do not start refurbishing until term sheet is signed and security deposit is transferred.
- Club house amenities are usually available in premium property options within society complex.
- Check if the rental quoted is inclusive of apartment associated maintenance costs.
- If the landlord is providing you with utility connections, the set up cost is borne by the landlord and the monthly rental and usage charges are borne by the tenant. The monthly payment will have to be made directly to the vendors. Please note that there is always a due date for making payments.

Housing

Location plays a vital role in choosing the right place to live. Please consider the following carefully:

When considering a property, keep in mind the following:

General appearance of the property and its location

- Layout of the property
- Condition of all electrical appliances supplied including air conditioners and washing machines etc.
- Provision for Electricity backup
- Water Storage
- Check humidity/mildew damage
- Is the telephone, internet line and gas connection provided by the landlord

Before you sign a lease here are the things to consider

- There is no multiple listing available in India. There are handful of housing agents that represent various properties and have to be contacted individually to obtain a nearly complete listing of rental properties available.
- Typically there are two realtors involved, One representing the landlord and one represents tenant. Sometimes there could be more than 2 or 3 realtors involved in a particular housing transaction.

Housing

- Advance rents : 1 months to 2 months (can be negotiated in some cases)
- Security deposit: Usually equivalent to 3-6 month rent with advance rent as stated above.
- Short term lease not available, minimum lease length is for 11 months.
- Lock in and Diplomatic clauses – typically 1 to 2 years for a new high end property (Depending upon furnishing items to be provided by the owner and subject to negotiation)
- Notice of termination: with a one to two month written notice.
- Tax payment: Tax withheld by the licensee on the monthly rental anywhere between 10 to 20%.
- An increase in 5 - 10% in monthly rentals on completion of every year.

Other cost

- Local realtor commission is one to two month rent payable by tenant upon closing of the property depending on the property and location. Sometimes, the landlords pay half months to one month rent to the realtor.
- FG recommends registering and stamping the Lease Agreement/Leave and License agreement at stamping authority. The stamp duty is 1-2% on the average rent of whole term. However it is mandatory to register the lease which is more than 11 months and the cost of registration is borne equally by both the parties.

Household Insurance

Other cost

Although it is not possible for one to guard one's home and family from all possible risks, but one can take steps to help one tide over unexpected events which totally shatters one's life and dreams. Four public sector players and few private players offer household policy.

Household Insurance

Household Insurance

Who can apply for this policy?

This policy is suitable for all as a householder whether you are a landlord or a tenant. Policies can be issued for a maximum period of one year. You can choose between a comprehensive cover and a separate cover. Under the home insurance policy, there are ten sections. If you opt for a comprehensive policy, all these 10 get covered at one go. If you opt for a separate policy, you can pick and choose the sections on which you want coverage.

What it covers

Broadly, the policy insures you against loss or damage to your house and its contents, including jewellery and other valuables and domestic appliances, third party liability and even loss of baggage during travel. Some of the more important sections for which coverage is provided are briefly outlined below:

Fire	and	Allied	Perils
Covers loss or damage to building and contents due to fire, lightning impact, damage, explosion etc.

Burglary and Theft

Covers loss or damage to building and contents due to burglary or theft during normal course of occupancy and even if the house has been unoccupied.

Household Insurance

Audio and Audio Visual Appliances

A comprehensive coverage for your appliances like television covering damage caused by fire, burglary and theft, mechanical or electrical break-down as well as legal liability up to specified amount.

Jewellery and valuables

Covers loss, destruction and damage to jewellery and valuables anywhere in India due to Accident and or misfortune.

What is in and what is out

- Damage as a consequence of war, invasion, act of foreign enemy, hostilities (whether war be declared or not) civil war, rebellion, revolution etc.
- Any damage due to confiscation, commandeering, requisition or destruction by order of any government or lawfully constituted authority.
- Depreciation and damage caused by wear and tear or gradual deterioration.
- Damage to property and contents due to pollution of any kinds.
- While declaring the value of the contents, one should ensure that there is no under insurance: In case the actual value of the insured property at the time of loss under Fire Benefit is found to be greater than the sum insured opted by you then the claim would stand to be reduced in the same proportion.
- There are some clauses under the policy which are subject to excess, in such a case the insured has to bear the specific proportion of excess. The excess is that part of the claim which the insurer shall not bear.

Household Insurance

What you should know when filing for a claim:

- When the claim is large one, the insurance company will send a surveyor to check the damage. This will either be an individual or firm licensed by the Insurance Regulatory Development Authority.
- Remember that whenever there is any claims immediately inform your insurance company. Private insurance companies have toll free numbers. Besides informing the company on phone, make sure you inform the insurance company through a written letter to avoid any future hassles.
- In case of a fire, the fire brigade report is a must before filing any claim.
- If the cause of damage has been a flood or earthquake, you may have to prove that the natural calamity did occur.
- In the case of a theft, a first information report (FIR) from the police is mandatory. Further, the insurance company may want to wait till the police have given a final investigation report. You will have to prove that the burglary did not occur because of any carelessness on your part.
- Where goods are concerned, such as televisions and music systems, keep the cash memo to show how much you paid for it and when. As for jewellery you have to provide details like weight and design.
- In the case of glass, you have to prove that malafide intent and not your child slamming a ball into it caused the damage.

Schooling

Following are suggestions to assist you in making the best decision:

- Ask friends where they send their children and why.
- Call the schools you are interested in. Make an appointment to visit the school. Ask the admissions-in-charge to arrange for you to visit classrooms and speak with the teachers during your visit.
- Take time before the visit to list your priorities and questions.
- During the visit be attentive to how the child's questions and behaviour are handled. What is the interaction between staff and your child? Is your child made to feel welcome?
- Inquire about the teacher/student ratio and the teachers' credentials and teaching experience.
- Inspect the facilities. Look at safety features and overall sanitary conditions. Are the toys and equipment age-appropriate and adequate?
- Ask for a complete list of all fees before you register. Registration fees and subsequent school fees are non-refundable.
- Ask about transportation vehicles. How old are the buses or vans? Do not hesitate to ask about occupancy numbers and supervision.
- Ask about meal plan facilities.
- Educating your child in a foreign country can provide a wonderful exposure to many different cultures and be a rewarding experience for both you and your child.
